

EMMA MIRANDA MOORE

Emma is an ambitious Director and Writer with a clear visual style. She loves working with actors and bringing out nuanced and believable performances. Her short films have screened internationally and have been selected for Aesthetica Short Film Festival, Flickerfest, London Short Film Festival and Underwire Film Festival, among many others.

Emma studied Fine Art and was a photographer in a previous life - her clients included The Face, Red and The Sunday Times Magazine. She loves a story about real flawed human characters - the messes we get ourselves into and the ways in which we claw our way back out.
