

Hello

While at Elsewhere in June 2018, I walked around Greensboro to say hello and used a geotracking app (The Traveler) to document my paths. Signalling Hello (Greensboro) is a collection of simple gestures, mapped primarily within the Downtown Greensboro city limits, always converging on Elsewhere's secondary 608 S. Elm St doorstep - located next to this booth. The work now lives as a two-part expression: a cluster of hand-painted mapped journeys collapsed onto one another transferred directly on the 608 window; and a looped video with seven silent segments - one for each day of the week - of Vail speaking hellos toward the painted glass and to potential onlookers.

Please continue to be kind to passers by, we have a lot more in common than you may expect.
