

Vaccination protects you against serious illness and death from COVID

Adam connects scientists with each other to collaborate on ways to control Covid. He plans and organises trials of new vaccines and drugs in human volunteers, he contributes to discussions on national and global policy on vaccine deployment and he communicates with the public via the media and social media about the pandemic and ways to overcome it.

Photography, design & concept @tomskipp
With special thanks to Kathleen Sedgley

tomskipp.com

Made possible in collaboration with  University of BRISTOL