Professional, consistent portraits
for teams and leadership.

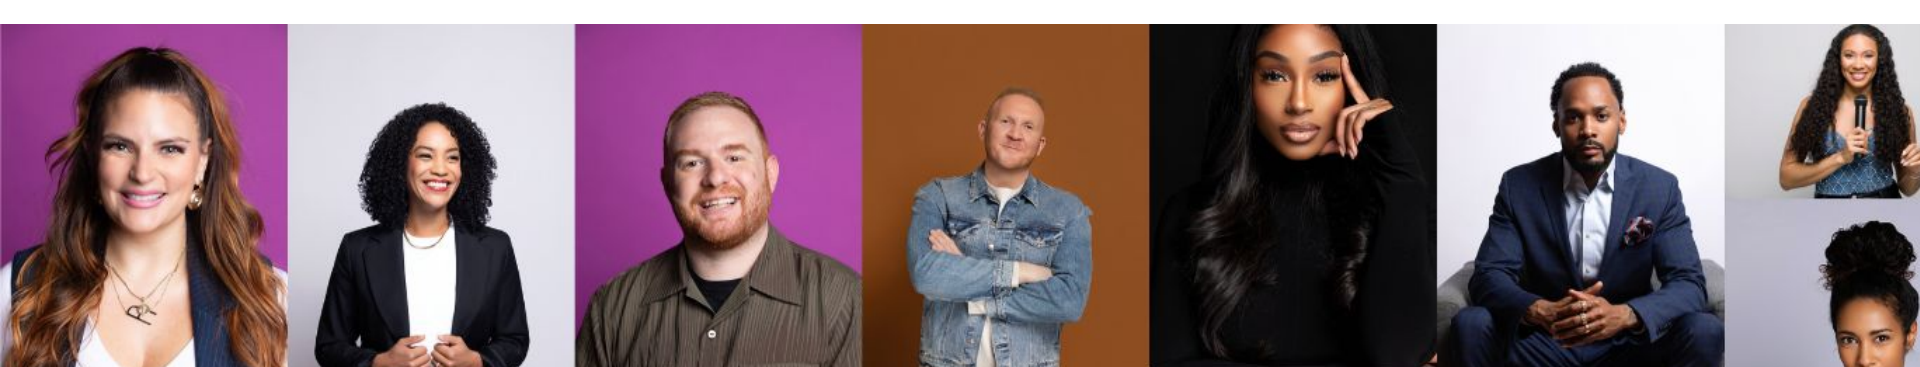

A Simple, Stress-Free Headshot Experience

I specialize in onsite corporate headshots for teams and leadership, with a process designed to be efficient, organized, and easy to manage. Based in New York City, I bring experience working across corporate and editorial environments, helping companies create consistent, professional portraits that reflect their people and brand.

Each session is built around a clean setup, clear direction, and a calm approach that helps everyone feel comfortable in front of the camera, regardless of experience. Images are delivered in organized, individual galleries with retouched selects and full raw access, making it simple for HR and communications teams to share, store, and reuse images as needed.
