

Antoaneta Roussi

NAIROBI, KENYA (AVAILABLE TO RELOCATE)  +44 7387157212 • antoaneta-roussi.format.com

MULTIMEDIA REPORTER

POLITICS | SCIENCE | TECHNOLOGY | CULTURE | ENVIRONMENT

Reporting Skills

Broad and deep understanding of policymaking

Multimedia reporting

AP style

Ability to break down technical reports

Accountability journalism

English, Bulgarian, Russian

Proofreading/editing

FOIA requests

Technical Skills

Camera operation (DSLR and film)

Editing software (Adobe Premiere, InDesign, Lightroom)

Infographics Software

Lexis/Nexis

References

Sarah Richardson (Research Europe)

Ehsan Masood (Nature)

Tsvetelia Tsoleva (Reuters)

Professional Experience

Freelance journalist — remote Sep 2015- present

- Publishing stories in various mediums on BBC, NPR, Public Radio International, Nature, The Independent and others.

UN Environment — Nairobi, Kenya Editorial coordinator Jan - June 19

- Collaborated with scientists and programme officers to create compelling and human-driven content on the work of UN Environment.
- Worked with a team of writers across the world, commissioning and editing stories; scheduling pieces to reflect UNEP's work and regional variety.
- Curated and wrote a 12hr live feed on World Environment Day about events and commitments from across the world related to tackling air pollution.

Research Europe — London, UK Staff reporter Jan 2017-19

- Covered European research and science policy news on the national and EU level.
- Broke stories about the issues that shape the production of science, including open science, Brexit, and #Metoo in universities.
- Wrote US science weekly column based on federal agency news and congressional hearings.

Salon — New York, US Politics writer Jan- July 16

- Covered the 2016 presidential campaign of the two major parties.
- Revealed that toxic water wasn't just a crisis in Flint, Michigan but other US cities too, which became the most popular article of the month and later noted in the Harvard Environmental Law Review.

Reuters — Sofia, Bulgaria Stringer April- Aug 2012

- Wrote daily political and financial news for the wire
- Covered breaking news, including Hezbollah bus bombing at Burgas airport.
- Wrote cultural features such as the reveal of Roman heritage in Sofia.

Columbia Graduate School of Journalism, MS — New York, US 2014-15

- Long-form literary journalism, visual storytelling and environmental reporting. Masters project exposed the shoddy dealings behind a gas pipeline construction in Jamaica Bay, Rockaway following hurricane Sandy.

London College of Communication, BA — London, UK 2010-13

- New-world history and media. European cultural development through enlightenment period to present day. Film and radio modules.