Teaching Experience

Independent Art Instructor and Mentor- Columbus, OH; 2006 – Present

- Teach art lessons/workshops in various media in my private studio
- Mindful Creativity Workshop Series (ongoing), co-taught with Ayurvedic Practitioner and Meditation Teacher Eszter Gozon at her wellness center, Pranamyra in Dublin, OH. Each 2-hour workshop teaches a form of meditation and a corresponding, hands-on art practice with discussion, exploring art and mindfulness as health care.
- Liminal Spaces: An Exploration into the Interface Between Visual Art & Writing, co-taught with local artist Sayuri Ayers. A four-part series of workshops that explores the relationship between art and writing to inspire visual artists and writers to integrate both fields in their creative work and encourage interdisciplinary collaboration. (planned for Autumn 2024)
- Designed and taught community art lessons that incorporated art and cultural history with studio art activities for grades K-12 and adults in charter schools, community centers, and libraries

Art Instructor - Veterans Affairs Veteran Arts Initiative, Columbus, OH; 2019 – Present

- Teach art lessons/workshops in various media to military veterans suffering with mental health issues as a part of the VA's Whole Health Initiative.

Instructor, Cultural Arts Center, Columbus, OH; 2018 – 2021

- Beginning, Intermediate, and Advanced Adult Classes - Taught/demonstrated appropriate level metalsmithing/jewelry skills to adult students, designed and taught projects to hone these skills, helped advanced level students with self-led projects, held workshops for advanced-level skills when appropriate, facilitated open studio sessions

MFA mentor, CCAD, Columbus, OH; 2017 – 2020

- Served as a guide throughout MFA candidates' professional training and provide both professional and personal advice in transitioning into, and out of, graduate school; give constructive feedback on writing, teaching, and other elements of career design; serve to help students balance professional goals with their personal lives and provide emotional encouragement during challenging times.

Adjunct Instructor, CCAD, Columbus, OH; 2016 – 2020

- FINE2206/Studio - Jewelry Introduction Survey - 3 credits; An introduction to the design and fabrication of three-dimensional forms for jewelry, hollowware, flatware, and small sculpture, covering basic techniques unique to jewelry as a creative and expressive medium. Presentations and readings for discussion provide historical and contemporary context for investigations of such concepts as ornamentation, scale, utility, and the body as site.
- FINE3206/Studio - Jewelry Intermediate Workshop - 3 credits; Continuation of the development of a variety of traditional technical methods as they support individual ideas. Projects emphasize skill development and aesthetic understanding. Lectures, reading, and research provide increased awareness of the historical grounding and current critical issues in the metals and jewelry field, with an emphasis on the development of advanced conceptual approaches to personal work.

- FINE4206/Studio - Jewelry Advanced Studio - 3 credits; Individual projects based on research inform a coherent body of work based on sophisticated techniques and a maturing sense of aesthetic direction. With feedback from faculty and other students, work is produced that represents the depth and breadth of the medium. This course helps students bring ideas and work to the level of excellence expected by the field. Documentation, writing, and professional-level presentations about the work are required.
- FINE4306/Studio - Jewelry Advanced Studio II - 3 credits; This studio class is an advanced study in the field of jewelry, with projects being self-directed by the student with faculty guidance. An emphasis on building a coherent body of work is enhanced by technical exploration. Finished work and students' conceptual development are evaluated through formal critiques. Professional writing and communication are emphasized through proposals, written assessments, and artist statements. This course helps students bring concepts and work to the level of excellence expected by the field, and professional ethics and behavior are stressed.
- FINE4406/Studio - Jewelry Advanced Studio III - 3 credits; In this studio course, the focus is the continuation of self-directed work from Jewelry Advanced Studio II with periodic critiques to discuss progress, content, and process. Students are expected to produce an advanced body of work, to work diligently and independently, to refine their studio practice, and to articulate their ideas regarding materials and meaning. The course content, critiques, and the student's individual research encourage the student to make suitable advanced conceptual, aesthetic, and technical decisions. Professional materials, practices, and ethics are expected.
- FINE4506/Studio - Jewelry Advanced Studio IV - 3 credits; In this studio course, the focus is the continuation of self-directed work from Jewelry Advanced Studio III with a focus on building a portfolio suitable to the individual student's professional goals. The course addresses practical issues to do with becoming a professional artist after graduation, is designed to encourage independence, self-motivation, and maturity in an open-studio environment. Professional materials, practices, and ethics are expected.
- CORE1110/Studio - Drawing Methods - 3 credits; An introduction to drawing techniques, methods, and concepts employing strategies that serve the studio arts and design arts. Course projects center on ideation, observation, and creative growth through investigation of subjects including still life, environmental structure, and the human form. Using traditional, digital, and hybrid media, a variety of compositional strategies and creative applications are explored while technical skills are expanded. Critical examination and research of drawing practices in historic and contemporary context facilitate conceptual development.

Professional Service/Volunteerism

MAKE. Collective [Mindful Artists Knowing Existence], Founding Member, 2020-present

- Mission Statement: Exploring creativity as a tool to shift consciousness.
We are a philosophical art collective focusing on a deeper meaning and purpose of making. MAKE. focuses on the connection between art and wellbeing, both individually and within communities. We believe that living an artful life extends well beyond the studio and includes areas like philosophy, mindfulness, play, mental health, and physical wellbeing. We are rethinking ego and commodification within the arts. We work on group projects, meet to critique, brainstorm, share skills and resources, and provide creative community and support to each other. Future plans include community outreach and therapeutic art workshops.
