

they're shaking my house

Can you please answer my questions?

I..

love love love love love love love love love

Hear me out, a twilight episode where I have a crush on everyone I meet but its my real life and I'm probably in love with you and you and you and you and you and

I say self-love as an excuse.

Everything I do, I do for love so that I can be loved, so I can never hurt anyone like That

I only want to obtain you to know that you can love me so I can feel better and go go go go go go go go go on

PAY ATTENTION

I'm hot and I'm here

I see you

all the signs are

there

right there where your jaw is

Remember that night we cried with the moon.

Am I nothing without love or is love nothing without me?

me me me me me me

okay

please adore me

after years of solitude

They were shaking my house, when everything was in its place

Now I know what love is not.

Cutting down a rose,
in days I watch it crave water and grow a thicker skin.

I return to my ex-lover's state and I yell to the ocean,

There is no place I don't belong.

Can you let me live in my fantasy?
Love is nothing without me.

I won't let you shake my house.